Headline:
Dry and bright Monday with sunny spells and becoming warm.

Today:
A dry and bright day with sunny spells and becoming warm after a chilly, locally frosty start. Light or moderate southerly winds, but rather fresh winds over the east coast where it will feel a good deal cooler. Maximum temperature 16 deg C (61 deg F).

Tonight:
A dry evening with some clear spells but cloud increasing from the west to bring outbreaks of rain. Some heavier rain late in the night, especially over Perthshire hills. Minimum temperature 3 deg C (37 deg F).

Tuesday:
Cloudy with outbreaks of rain, some heavy at first but rain will gradually fizzle out with drier and perhaps brighter conditions by evening as winds turn northwest. A colder day. Maximum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
High pressure building across Scotland bringing dry and bright weather with some sunshine. Mainly light winds and still quite warm in sunshine, but cooler with night frosts.
